

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A device that monitors the way in which the device is being used is disclosed.

When an accessory is available for the device that would complement the use detected, the availability of the accessory is communicated to the user.